

THE BUTLER STATUE

Lively Hearing Was Held at the State House

At the State House today a lively hearing was held on the proposed bill to amend the constitution to provide for a permanent home for the Butler statue. The bill was introduced by Representative William H. Sullivan of Lowell. The hearing was held in the Senate chamber and was attended by a large number of members of the legislature and the public. The bill provides that the Butler statue be placed in the State House and that the cost of its removal and transportation be paid by the state. The hearing was held in the afternoon and continued until about 5 o'clock. The bill was then referred to the committee on education and the committee on the judiciary.

The committee on education and the committee on the judiciary will report on the bill at a later date. The bill is expected to pass the legislature and become a law.

The Butler statue is a famous work of art and is one of the most valuable possessions of the state. It is a statue of a man in a suit and is made of bronze. It is named after a man who was a member of the legislature and was a friend of the state.

The statue is now in the custody of the state and is being kept in a safe place. It is being kept in a safe place until it can be moved to the State House.

MacFARLAND GUILTY

Man Convicted of the Murder of His Wife

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The jury, after a deliberation of nearly two hours, returned its verdict in the case of John MacFarland, charged with the murder of his wife, Helen, on the morning of the 10th of January. The jury found MacFarland guilty of the murder of his wife, and sentenced him to the electric chair.

MacFarland was a 35-year-old man, a native of Scotland, who had been in the United States for about ten years. He was a well-to-do man, and had a good reputation in the community. His wife, Helen, was a 25-year-old woman, who was also a native of Scotland. She was a very beautiful woman, and had a very good reputation in the community.

The murder took place on the morning of the 10th of January, at the residence of the couple in New York City. MacFarland was found standing over his wife, who was lying on the floor, bleeding from a wound in her head. MacFarland was holding a knife in his right hand, and was looking at his wife with a look of horror.

The jury heard evidence from several witnesses, including the maid who found the body, and the neighbors who heard the screams. The evidence was overwhelming, and the jury found MacFarland guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

MacFarland's defense attorney, John J. McQuinn, had argued that his client was innocent, and that the evidence was circumstantial. He had also argued that his client was suffering from a mental illness, and that he should be committed to an asylum instead of being executed.

The jury rejected all of these arguments, and found MacFarland guilty. MacFarland was sentenced to the electric chair, and the execution is scheduled for the morning of the 15th of February.

THE B. & M. CAR SHOPS

Plans Are Completed and Contracts Are Being Awarded

Plans for the new $300,000 equipment repair shop for the Boston & Maine railroad, one of the largest pieces of railroad construction undertaken in New England in several years, have been completed and the contract for 3565 tons of fabricated steel has been awarded.

The buildings a group of six are to be erected at Billerica on the Eastern & Lowell lines and shipments of steel are expected within three months.

The buildings will include a locomotive repair shop, car repair shop and power house. The construction is of steel frame, brick and concrete. It is expected that the structures will be completed during the summer of 1912.

LIEUT. MAHER'S CATCH

Prisoner Wanted on Various Charges Held in $1,000

Jean B. Lafarge, otherwise known as John Smith, who was arrested by Lieut. Martin Maher yesterday afternoon, was arraigned before Judge John J. Pickman in police court this morning on four complaints, two charging him with breaking and entering and larceny and two with larceny.

The defendant is a self-confessed thief and besides admitting his guilt to the police yesterday afternoon he entered pleas of guilty to each complaint upon which he was called in court this morning.

The complaints are as follows:

Dec. 28, 1911, larceny of a wagon valued at $15, the property of Michael Lebon of Chelmsford.

August 2, 1911, larceny of a cow valued at $50, the property of Charles A. Wright of Billerica.

November 12, breaking and entering the barn of Howard W. Foster in Tewksbury and the larceny of a cow valued at $75.

December 12, breaking and entering the building occupied by Morse Emond and the larceny of a horse, wagon, harness collar and blanket.

The court after considering the testimony offered in the case found probable cause of guilt and held the defendant under $1000 bonds for his appearance before the superior court.

Considerable credit is due Lieut. Maher for the capture of one of the cleverest thieves who have been operating in this city for a long time. According to Lieut. Maher and the officers of several surrounding towns there will be other charges preferred against Lafarge when he is brought before the superior court.

Lafarge was arrested from his home in French street yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with larceny and after being questioned in the police station he admitted having operated in Lowell and suburban towns.

Last August Lafarge entered the pasture of Charles A. Wright in Billerica and stole a cow. He drove the bovine into this city and sold it to a man for $22.50.

In December he entered the premises of Morse Emond in Dodge street and stole a horse, wagon, collar and blanket.

The barn of Howard W. Foster of Tewksbury was broken into in November and a cow taken. Lafarge admits that he committed the larceny also that he drove it to his home in Westford and afterwards sold it to a farmer in Westford for $25.

The day after Christmas he stole a wagon from Michael Lebon in Chelmsford.

Lafarge lived in Westford up to a short time ago when he moved to this city. He is well known to the police for it was only a few years ago that he sold a portable saw mill, which did not belong to him, to a man, was arrested and after being found guilty by the court was sentenced to the house of correction.

Paid Costs of Court.

Walter E. Cooke who appeared before the court yesterday morning on complaints charging him with drunkenness and trespassing on the property of Elizabeth G. Tainter of Tewksbury, and pleaded not guilty, changed his plea to that of guilty this morning. Inasmuch as the complaint did not state to press the case, the case was placed on the files of the court after Cooke paid the costs of the court which amounted to $6.30.

ALLISON McFARLAND

SAYS HE WILL FIGHT FOR HIS LIFE

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 1.—Allison McFarland, who last night was found guilty of murder in the first degree, has taken the verdict coolly and says he expects to make a vigorous fight for his life after sentence is passed, next week. The jury took several hours to determine the question whether or not McFarland had poisoned his wife, Evelyn, with cyanide of potassium. The verdict was rendered at midnight and the prisoner heard it unconcernedly.

WELL KNOWN BROKER DEAD

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—Edward T. Harrington, a well known real estate broker in this city, died at his home in Lexington today. Mr. Harrington was born in Boston in 1842 and leaves a widow.

LORPHEON CANADIAN

The members of Lorpheon Canadian have established their headquarters in large apartments in the Green Building at the corner of Kirk and Merrimack streets, where they have installed a fine upright piano. Mr. Albert Debraune, a talented musician, has been chosen as pianist of the organization, and the first rehearsal will be held next Sunday at which time an orchestra will be selected and the parts given out. Dr. George E. Caisse is musical director of the Orpheon.

No building permits were issued at the office of the inspector of buildings today. The number of permits issued for January, 1912 was 26, an increase of one over the corresponding month for last year.

Dr. Thomas F. Carroll, elected to the board of health to succeed Dr. J. M. Murphy, qualified for office before the city clerk this forenoon.

RETURN TO WORK

More Operatives Resume Their Positions in Lawrence Mills

LAWRENCE, Feb. 1.—General peace and quiet again prevailed in this city today. Aside from the presence of the militiamen who found few incidents to break the monotony of patrolling streets, now quiet, and the continued greatly reduced operating forces of the mills, two of which are closed, conditions outwardly approached the normal. While there have been scattered defections from the ranks of the strikers as indicated by the increased numbers of operatives who worked in the mills today the body of 15,000 textile workers remains firmly on strike.

So far as could be learned today no effort is being made in any direction to bring the strike to an end. Apparently the hopeful mediators of a week ago have thrown up their hands, thinking it not within their power to bring the contending parties together. The strike is being allowed to drift along with hope on all sides that something to assist in a settlement may break.

MAYOR SCANLON

SAYS NOTHING IS BEING DONE TO END THE STRIKE

LAWRENCE, Feb. 1.—Mayor Scanlon said today:

"So far as I know, nothing is being done to end the strike. There is nothing further that I can do. The mill owners insist that they will treat only with their own employees and the strikers demand that any negotiations be conducted through a general committee. So we can't get them together."

The city's chief executive said he does not know whether the city's committee is doing anything to bring the matter to a head and Justin Varney, chairman of the committee, was out of town today and could not be reached.

"Old Sweeter, in command of the military force which is on guard in the city, said: 'I thought we were going to join the two sides together some time ago, but I have no reason now to believe that this can be accomplished. Although there may be some operatives at work this morning, they are decided until the mill owners and operatives reach an agreement.'

"Neither the mill owners nor the strikers are making any overtures to each other. The strikers have been without an active leader since Ector's arrest. William D. Hayward, the western labor man, arrived here at noon today but when he was asked 'Are you going to take control of the situation for the strikers?' he answered: 'Oh, I don't know. I'm just here to help.'

Hayward went into conference with the executive strike committee shortly after his arrival.

WILLIAM YATES

TO TAKE ECTOR'S PLACE AS STRIKE LEADER

LAWRENCE, Feb. 1.—After the exciting session of the committee today Hayward was asked if he had returned to take Ector's place. Hayward replied that he had not, stating that William Yates of New Bedford was the recognized head of the strike. "I am only here to assist and encourage the people. I leave for New York tonight," he said.

Asked what he had to say about the arrest of Ector and Giovannioli, Hayward said:

"I think it is not because Ector has committed an offense against society that he has been taken but rather because he has been identified as an official in the strike. They have labored under the idea that by placing the leader in jail the strike would be broken."

THE LORIMER HEARING

Wordy War Between Detective Burns and Lawyer Hancey

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Wordy hostilities between Detective Burns and Attorney Hancey, Senator Lorimer's counsel, were renewed today when Burns continued under cross-examination before the senate committee investigating Senator Lorimer's election. Burns had attacked the credibility of Charles Gowan, a witness for Lorimer, who had testified relative to alleged conversations about the $100,000 "backlog" fund "to put Lorimer over."

"This man has been insulting me," began Mr. Burns when Chairman Dillingham suggested him not to interfere in discussions between counsel.

"You call him or I will stop him," retorted Burns.

"It is just as I please," the chairman interrupted.

"Don't the witnesses protect himself," asked Senator Kenyon as he turned toward the chairman.

WILLIAM P. WHITE

Lawrence's Ex-Mayor Says He Can Stop Strike in 24 Hours

Ex-Mayor William P. White of Lawrence was a caller at the Lowell office this morning and while he did not care to be interviewed at length on the strike situation in that city of mere disturbance, he did make the statement that he could settle the strike in twenty-four hours.

"I can settle that with business in twenty-four hours," said Mr. White, and he looked at it as a mere business what he said. "Ask the business men of Lawrence what they think about it," he said, as he turned his full-throated coat about him, "and I'll tell you that White's right. They know that I could settle that strike and they probably have at least how I would go about it."

"When I was in prison after having been convicted for a crime of which I was absolutely innocent, Mr. Wood of the big mill in Lawrence, was returning to his home. He never brought me to William White, the incorporated one, though he had said that White was the best mayor Lawrence ever had."

"I know a man in Lawrence who went over to England and other places and distributed mill pictures that were false pictures of the textile industry in Lawrence. He distributed many pictures of operatives leaving the mill with cartons full of money and depositing them in the bank across the way. This method of importing foreign help is dishonest and the strike will be stopped in 24 hours. Lawrence today was invaded into the city by lying pictures in the form of advertisements."

"I know all the Italians and Americans in Lawrence and I am not boasting when I say that I could stop that strike in twenty-four hours." The honest people of these foreign elements are misled by advertisements and the city authorities do not know it. But who is to blame?"

LOTS OF TROUBLE

Over the Disappearance of a Horse

A certain real estate dealer in this town left his horse standing in a certain bank a tale. There's a man in this town who dyes for a living and he's the man responsible for the tale.

The horse, gentle reader, as we have already stated, was standing in the street and it is alleged that the horse was not taken care of. The man who lives to dye thought that the horse was the property of a man with whom he frequently associated and he allowed that the opportunity was open to teach his friend a lesson and do the horse a good turn.

He didn't wait to think the matter over very thoroughly, but he did take the stick and drove the horse to the pound in Warren street. Now it came to pass that the horse was not the property of his friend and the owner, a real estate operator, searched the city stable house for his horse.

Somebody who had seen the man drive away in the train told the real estate dealer that the horse had been impounded. The real estate man went to the pound and, sure enough, there was his horse. The owner, of course, demanded his property but one of the attendants of the pound, keeper's establishment, demanded 50 cents. He said the horse had been fed and there was nothing for the real estate man to do but to pay the feed bill.

Then he went looking for the man who impounded his horse but the pounder upon finding that the horse made a mistake, went into hiding. It is understood, however, that he is willing to make good the price of his joke, 50 cents, but there are rumors of proceeding that will cost a good deal more than half a dollar.

REV. FR. CUSICK, S. J.

Addressed Hibernians at St. Patrick's Church

A large congregation composed of the members of the five local divisions of the A. O. H. and the members of the Ladies' auxiliary of the A. O. H. was present at the services at St. Patrick's church last evening. Last night's service included the recitation of the rosary, a lecture and benediction of the blessed sacrament.

The lecture was given by Rev. Peter Cusick, S. J., professor at Boston college. The eloquent speaker took as his subject "Respect for Civil and Ecclesiastical Authority." He treated his subject in a most interesting and instructive manner, and his remarks made a great impression.

Last night's lecture was the second of a series of four to be given on Wednesday evenings at this church. The services are in charge of Rev. Wm. O'Brien, P. M., chaplain of the local Hibernians.

WHIST PARTY

HELD AT HOME OF MRS. CHAS. KIRBY LAST EVENING

A very enjoyable whist party was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Kirby, 16 Walnut street, last evening. The affair was conducted under the auspices of the retirement table at the coming reunion of St. Peter's parish. There were about 150 people present and all assisted in making the party a pleasant one. The whist games were very interesting and closely contested. The winners were: Lady's first prize, Miss Anna Spillane; second, Mrs. Mary Conner; third, Mrs. Thomas Gowan; and second Mr. Gaudin. The prizes were awarded by Rev. Wm. George Kullin of St. Peter's church.

A very pleasing entertainment program was also given, including selections by Gilmore's Ladies orchestra, songs, Thomas Gowan, Mr. Arthur, Henry Gilmore and many others. Several recitations were given in a clever manner by Miss Ruth Kirby.

Lowell Man Charged With Causing Hearing on Bill is Held at the Death of Mrs. Kittredge State House

CAMBRIDGE, Feb. 1.—James H. Horsfall of Lowell was placed on trial in the Middlesex superior court today for manslaughter in causing the death in an automobile accident of Mrs. Ruth Kittredge of Tewksbury, indictment.

A hearing on the bill accompanying the act of the legislature to make it a crime to cause the death of a person by driving a motor vehicle recklessly or without due regard for the safety of others, was held at the state house today.

There were a number of Lowell people present and several spoke in favor of the bill.

ANSWERS ARE FILED

By the U. S. Steel Co. and Subsidiary Companies

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 1.—With the filing today of the answers of the United States Steel corporation, its subsidiaries and individuals named in the government suit to dissolve the big corporation and its several subsidiary and allied companies all the defendants in the case have been heard from. The next move is for the government to file a replication after which the United States court will appoint an examiner to take evidence.

Besides the defendants the following also filed their answers today:

Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Edward G. Converse and Wm. Palmer. Mr. Palmer in his answer says he was president of the American Steel and Wire Co. when he sold all his stock in the company to the United States Steel Co. in 1901. He admits that the sales department of the American company in July, 1903, entered into government agreements with the Wire Rope company, the Rubber Covered Wire association, the Horseshoe Mfrs. association, and four other manufacturing associations named in the government's petition. He states that he was told by attorneys that the agreements were legal but that in 1909 when the steel corporation learned of the existence of the agreements the American company withdrew from them at the request of the steel corporation. Mr. Palmer denies that the agreements were in restraint of trade and that they tended to monopolize commerce and says that they were intended to benefit producers and consumers inasmuch as they sought to regulate "to a reasonable extent only" production and price.

The iron and steel business, Mr. Palmer says in his answers, depends on the law of supply and demand in the United States and abroad and "is largely regulated by this law."

The answer concludes by denying all unlawful combinations and asks that the bill of complaint be dismissed.

DIED OF FRIGHT
WOMAN WAS ATTACKED BY A MAN

FALL RIVER, Feb. 1.—Miss Carolina Lepine, aged 42, residing with her sister, Mrs. Mary Legasse, at 2357 So. Main street, died Tuesday night, following an attack made by a man in the extreme southern section of the city.

In the opinion of Dr. Merrell, who was called to attend Miss Lepine, she died from the effects of fright and shock to her system. Medical Examiner Gunning will perform an autopsy.

Miss Lepine had reached a point on Shaw street about 100 yards north of Broad street when a man jumped at her and placed his arms around her waist. She struggled, and her assailant observing the approach of another man, ran away. The man coming toward her was Oliver St. Denis, with whom she had an appointment.

Miss Lepine rushed toward him saying, "I am dying," the Portuguese wanted me to go with him." Before St. Denis could intercept the fleeing Portuguese the latter got away.

of the proposed measure. Rev. A. C. Farrin represented the Low and Oiler league. Mrs. Mary Legasse appeared in behalf of the Federation of Churches, and John H. Murphy, secretary of the Lowell board of trade, advocated the measure.

The proposed bill reads as follows: An act to protect the public health. Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives in general court as follows:

PRES. AROZEMENA
Will Return to Resume Office

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Central American circles here are agog over reports coming from Panama forecasting some remarkable developments in the presidential campaign now in progress there. According to these reports, President Arozmena, who recently secured six months leave of absence from the legislature with permission to leave Panama, will return and resume his office, which he left in the hands of Senor Chiriqui, who is a member of the liberal party and opposed to Arozmena. Assumption of office by President Arozmena before the expiration of his term would make him ineligible to succeed himself. Therefore his return would mark the abandonment of his claims for re-election.

GREAT CARNIVAL
At the Vesper Country Club Today

At the Vesper Country club at "Dune's Island" today a midwinter carnival is being held. The festivities opened at three o'clock and will continue until 11 o'clock this evening. This afternoon a tennis tournament for the ladies was held. The excellent skating rink at the club was in great condition and a toboggan slide with many toboggans was also in the shape of a sportsman's dream.

The committee in charge of the carnival has arranged all details in a most elaborate and successful manner and to the members great credit is due for their untiring efforts.

The members of the committee are Harry G. Pollard, Perry G. Thompson and William G. Brown.

HELD SLEIGH RIDE
N. E. TELEPHONE EMPLOYEES WENT TO NO. CHELMSFORD

A sleighride party was held last evening by the N. E. telephone department of the New England Telephone company. The party left the office at 5:30 o'clock on a large sleigh and proceeded to the home of Miss Spillane, one of their number in North Chelmsford, where a beautiful supper awaited them.

Amusement was enjoyed in playing games, dancing, and singing. Miss Harriet Morse, Miss Anna Gillick, and Miss Ruth Bovey acted much to the pleasure of the evening by several well rendered solos. The party left at a late hour for the ride home, which was made joyous by the singing of many songs. When the party arrived in Lowell all told of a jolly good time. Much thanks is due to Mrs. Spillane for her kindness to the party, and to Miss Peterson and Miss Eno under whose able management the affair was conducted.

IF THE KIDNEYS ARE REALLY AFFECTED; Also Gives This Simple Prescription Which Anyone Can Prepare at Home at Nominal Cost. Makes the Kidneys Act Naturally, Forcing Them to Filter Out Uric Acid, Curing Worst Forms of Dyspepsia and Rheumatism.

There are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney diseases than any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of stomach and kidney trouble. It is caused by more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to filter out, leaving it to decompose and settle about the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering, frequently resulting in deformity; often reaching the heart and death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent urination and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach diseases, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms; the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

A simple test of this urine is to add a small quantity in a bottle or glass and let it stand over night; next morning, if there is a reddish brick-dust sediment, or white fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good prescription treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases and the sufferer can mix it at home: Fluid Extract, Juniper berries, one ounce; Compound Symplic, one ounce; Compound Symplic, one ounce; Compound Symplic, one ounce.

Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses before each meal and at bedtime.

Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple treatment.

GRAND SERVICE

Henry V. Cunningham, who were given seats in the sanctuary to the left of the altar.

Special music from augmented choirs at either end of the cathedral drew the mass out to unusual lengths and at the close Bishop Anderson, president of the pulpit and delivered an address of welcome.

Governor Foss was represented by several members of his executive council, while there were a number of federal office holders present.

The decorations in the cathedral will be maintained for several days, while tomorrow the cathedral will again be the scene in celebration of the feast of Candlemas.

Bishop Anderson delivered the address to the cardinal. He spoke as follows:

Bishop Anderson's Sermon

Your Eminence: It is only a few years ago that we assembled in this cathedral to greet you as coadjutor archbishop of this diocese. You had then already achieved a most remarkable career as pastor of the American college, as bishop of Portland and special envoy of the Holy See to Japan. Your success in each of these posts of honor had not only demonstrated to Rome your ability as a leader, but had conferred the high trust and confidence of Rome in choosing you for these various exalted offices. Again we assembled here when the pallium was conferred upon you, and as archbishop of this metropolitan see you took up the reins of government and have since then so ably, so judiciously and so successfully administered the affairs of the diocese that all have acknowledged the wisdom of Rome's choice.

Today, again, we gather here to witness a still greater expression of Rome's appreciation of your services and merit in exalting you to the highest and most sublime dignity of the church, that of the cardinalate, where you are called upon by reason of your talents and ability to render still greater service to the Holy See and the church in America. We rejoiced with you on all these occasions when these honors came to you, as we know that you would not only faithfully and efficiently fulfill the duties of these various offices, but would especially accomplish wonderful things for God's church.

When the glad news of this great honor reached us and our hearts were filled with joy, we had hoped that we might be privileged to witness here in this cathedral the magnificent ceremony of your investiture as cardinal. But as the Holy Father decided to confer this honor personally in Rome, we felt that we must willingly forego the pleasure of viewing the ceremony here in the gratification of knowing that you were by this extraordinary act of the Holy Father receiving a still further mark of the personal esteem and high regard in which you are held by his holiness.

This wonderful expression of affection and esteem of the Holy Father must certainly have overwhelmed you with joy. What sacred memories must have crowded upon you at that moment! What thoughts must have filled your mind as you reflected upon your student days in Rome and saw that your whole career was shaped and by the Holy Father. That it was in Rome you were ordained a priest, that in Rome you were consecrated a bishop, and that in Rome you were now to be solemnly honored in being raised to the cardinalate! We followed with deep interest every detail of the ceremony as reported so graphically and fully by the papers here. We joyfully unite in a convincing proof of the gratification and pleasure of all America in your appointment as Cardinal. The church in America especially rejoices because she shares in the great honor conferred and sees in this appointment the approval of the Holy See of the splendid work that is being accomplished here and the high hopes for the future that are placed by the Holy See in the church of this country. We of this metropolitan see, bishops, priests and people, rejoice at this signal honor conferred upon this archdiocese, which lifts it up among the distinguished principalities of the Christian world, makes it a prestige and prominence that it never before possessed.

While this sovereign dignity has come according to your own wishes, through the merits, the labors, the sacrifices of the valiant champion of the past and the faith, the zeal and devotion of the present and people of this church of Boston, we know you particularly feel especially that your own labors, your successful career, your splendid gifts and extraordinary ability have fixed the attention of the Holy See upon this particular place in Christ's kingdom.

Your own tireless efforts in every sphere in which you were placed, your long residence in Rome as rector of the American College, your successful administration as Bishop of Portland, and your historic and unprecedented achievement as special envoy to Japan centered the eyes of Rome upon you as a person of extraordinary ability and talents. The splendid administration of this metropolitan see since your appointment in office as archbishop, the perfect organization and order existing here under your wise and judicious government, your demonstration as a leader of thought, an exponent of truth and a powerful, vigorous and fearless defender of the church on all occasions, have not only given evidence to the Holy See, your priests and people, that in wise and wonderful order had been up among us, but to the church in America, where, on all sides, your name is proclaimed as one of the leading churchmen in this country.

No wonder, then, that Rome viewing the rapid growth of the church in America and knowing full well the stamp and character of the fearless, vigorous leader of the church in this province and the many acts and proofs of your loyalty and devotion to the Holy See, saw in you one in whom the Holy Father could place his fullest and fullest confidence, and in raising you to the cardinalate, in numbering you among the princes of the church, in raising you among the senate of the sacred palace, you would bring talents, ability and well merited services to the office which would be fully in keeping with the dignity conferred.

Sublime Office

This sublime office, the most exalted in the church next to the papacy itself, has always been filled by men of superior intellect and ability, who have added lustre and fame to the church by their talents and by their generous and heroic service to the Holy See. They have formed the court and council of the sovereign pontiffs in the government of the church, in directing the affairs of the Holy See, in effecting results favorable to religion with kings and emperors and in defending the rights of the church, even at the sacrifice of their lives.

The scarlet robes of their office have saved oath of loyalty in their investiture and their glorious record on the pages of history all give evidence and proof that they have always remained true and faithful to their trust, even at the price of shedding their blood for the truth and the defense of the church. Each century of illustrious cardinals famed for their talents, honored for their service to the church and loved for their devotion in every cause, benefiting afflicted humanity. Many of them have not only shed their blood for the people they served, but have been placed by the church in the category of the saints, so holy, so devout, so rich with merits and good works have been their lives. No earthly coat can show forth a record of such loyalty or glory in a long and illustrious list of non-erring and of their saintly qualities and high talents that of the cardinals of the church.

Kings have honored service performed to their kingdom with splendid gifts and princely titles. But what honor, what title, even that of princely birth, is equal to that dignity conferred by him who is the representative in earth of the king of kings, in raising them who have done nobly in service for Christ's kingdom to such an exalted position as making them princes of the church.

Galaxy of Great Men

To be numbered among the illustrious galaxy of great men of every age who have done honor to this office, to be associated with the glorious company of noble minds who have governed God's church; to be made a member of the senate of a kingdom of centuries old and privileged to sit in its ancient and time honored halls of state, to be raised to the dignity of prince of the church, such is the sublime office to which your eminence has been honored and the significance of this sublime dignity which has been conferred upon you by Christ's vicar on earth.

We rejoice then with you this day. We offer you the sincere, the genuine, the hearty congratulations of bishops, priests and people of this archdiocese at this new honor conferred upon you. We glory in the fact that Boston archdiocese has been so signally honored that this particular place out of the many spheres in Christ's kingdom has been so especially favored in having its representative head thus crowned with this dignity of the cardinalate. While then we rejoice with you and extend to you our heartfelt, warmest and richest expressions of congratulations, we fully realize the great responsibility placed upon you by this new honor and office. You are called upon to lead, to guide, to direct, to govern, from your past glorious career and your readiness and ability to fill successfully any position of trust, we feel certain that this new office will enable you to enlarge your field of usefulness and service and lead you to do still greater, nobler and holier things for God's church, not only in this archdiocese, but in America, where your name and your influence for good are already recognized and appreciated.

While, therefore, rejoicing with you, let our best wishes, our hearts and our prayers be with you that God may grant you in every effort for the glory of his kingdom on earth.

MILITIA ON GUARD AT MILL

LAWRENCE STRIKE

MORE OPERATIVES

RETURNED TO WORK IN LAWRENCE TODAY

LAWRENCE, Feb. 1.—Only two of the textile mills in this city failed to open their gates this morning. The number of operatives returning to work was the largest of any day since the strike began nearly three weeks ago. The streets leading to the mills were guarded by lines of soldiers and no trouble of any kind was reported.

Locking lines were abandoned and the mill operatives went to work through streets guarded by soldiers and in the midst of almost absolute quietness.

The Atlantic and Everett mills remained closed today. The former, it is expected, will open within a few days and the Everett has maintained a lock-out the past two weeks.

Activity by the strikers was not evident today and in fact since the arrest of their leader, Joseph J. Eitor, they have remained quiet. Although the strike is yet actively in effect many of the strikers, it is reported, have left their homes although the strike leaders claim that the backbone has not been broken and the operatives who went out will remain firm in their demand for increased wages.

The mills that opened today shared in about equal proportion the number of employees who returned to work. Although no figures were given out by the mill officials and the strikers did not give any, it was estimated that the proportion of operatives entering the mills today was one-third more than that of yesterday. Those who returned to work were largely foreigners, who make up the main body of strikers. Most of these men and women are believed to be among those intimidated by strikers or persons who felt that the strikers were certain of success.

Since the strike has been on it has been learned by mill officials here that many operatives have made requests for employment in various other mill cities in New England. Cities where the mill employees endeavored to obtain work include Fall River, New Bedford, Lowell and Fitchburg in Massachusetts; Providence, Pawtucket and Olneyville in Rhode Island; Manchester and Dover in New Hampshire, and Lewiston and Biddeford in Maine.

None of the strike leaders who were announced to arrive here last night put in an appearance up to an early hour this morning. William Yates of New Bedford took charge of the strikers today and Gilbert Santa of this city became chairman of the general strikers' committee.

Mr. Yates presided this forenoon at a meeting of the strikers' committee at which routine matters were considered. It was expected that William D. Haywood would return here today, accompanied by William E. Trautman, another of the leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Colonel Sweetser Talks
Colonel Elroy Sweetser, in command of the militia here, today denied reports that he intended to notify Haywood that his presence was not desired in Lawrence. He added that he would not have any communication with Haywood or anyone else on behalf of the strikers until the strikers had formally chosen some one as their leader. When such a leader is chosen, Colonel Sweetser said he would communicate with him and maintain the same relations as he had maintained with Eitor up to the time of the latter's arrest.

Colonel Sweetser said that some of the militia companies which had been on duty here for about two weeks probably would be sent home next Sunday night. Whether additional companies would be brought here to replace them, he said, was still uncertain. Whether or not there was any truth in the opinion expressed in some quarters that the backbone of the strike had been broken, Colonel Sweetser expressed the conviction that the situation was neither better nor worse than it had been a few days ago. He said that he had come on a special mission to investigate the economic and social phases of the strike and would have no connection with either side of the controversy.

FUNERAL OF WOMAN SHOT IN LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, Feb. 1.—When Col. Elroy Sweetser, commanding all the without the need of any orders to get back.

In front of the undertaking shop there was another crowd on the bridge. It meant that revolvers should be kept. They were with dull clicks that were almost continuous.

The action drew the crowd, which was thickest in front of the undertaking shop, and put backs of four on the faces of many women and children who were looking out of the windows of the three and four story tenements lining the street.

One hundred yards the other side of the undertaking room the troop halted, the command to wheel was given, and the horses trotted back in alignment that was very neat that which good cavalrymen strive for. In front of the undertaking shop this time a chorus of howls came from the workers along the quarter of a mile of street where the crowd was congregated took it up. Not the slightest sign of displeasure appeared on the faces of the troopers from Harvard and the Back Bay.

Miss La Pezola's body was removed from the undertaking room about 4 o'clock, the crowd near the door then backing divided in several directions. Four bearers brought it to the street from the back room, and one of them let go before the coffin was placed in the hearse. The end fell in the slush on the street, causing a chorus of "Ohs" from the crowd.

It was placed in the hearse hastily, and the funeral procession began. It consisted of the hearse and one carriage, containing the lone survivor, the woman's uncle, Frank Ramonetta. The horses trotted fast, and none of the crowd followed. At the Immaculate Conception cemetery the body was placed in the revolving tomb.

APPOINT A COMMITTEE TO MEET PRES. WOOD

LAWRENCE, Feb. 1.—The mule spinners have appointed a committee to meet William Wood and other officials of the American Woolen Co. The wool spinners in the Lawrence mills of that corporation are said to be willing to return to work providing they receive an advance of seven per cent. The mule spinners are not members of the Industrial Workers of the World.

The funeral of John Hamel, the Syrian boy who died Tuesday evening as the result of a bayonet stab by the militia, was held this afternoon, services being held in St. Anthony's church by Fr. Gostany. The militia allowed a funeral cortege to accompany the corpse to the cemetery, but no parade was permitted and crowds were not allowed to gather.

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—The order adopted in the house yesterday for an investigation into the textile strike at Lawrence went to the ways and means committee of the house today as it involves an expenditure of money. There are no field pieces of artillery of any kind in Juarez. By noon nearly all the residents of Juarez had fled to El Paso and many of the poorer families are camping in the open country on the American bank of the Rio Grande. The weather is sunny today, although there was ice last night and the campers suffered considerably before daybreak.

The members of the C. M. A. C. are contemplating the presentation of a drama which will be given some time after Easter, probably at the Opera House. At the regular meeting next Tuesday the president will appoint a committee of five which will look after the arrangements of this play.

If you have tried other papers of doubtful circulation and failed to get results, that is no reason why you should condemn all newspapers. There are some honest newspapers with actual bona fide circulations. THE SUN, for instance, now prints over 16,000 copies daily. Is it any wonder SUN advertisers get quick results?
